SUBJECT: ENSURING DIVERSITY AND OPPORTUNITY FOR PUBLICATION FOR SCHOLARLY AUTHORS IN HASTINGS CONSTITUTIONAL LAW QUARTERLY

In an effort to ensure that this journal provides publication opportunities to new and diverse voices, the following policy is hereby in place for all future publications:

If a scholarly author is published in this journal, said author can next submit a piece for consideration for publication after eight (8) issues of the journal have been published—i.e. two volumes. This shall be known as the ‘Eight Issue Rule.’

For example, if an author has been published in Issue 1, Volume 45, the next time said author is eligible for print in this journal is Issue 1, Volume 47.

This rule does not apply for UC Hastings students first publishing student notes and later submitting scholarly pieces for publication.

This rule shall be followed going forward, until a future Editor-in-Chief repeals or amends this rule.
